

DEVELOPING A VISION FOR THE FUTURE OF BERGEN COUNTY'S PARKS

BERGEN COUNTY PARKS MASTER PLAN COMMUNITY INFORMATION SESSIONS

The Bergen County Department of Parks and the Rutgers Center for Urban Environmental Sustainability (CUES) invite all Bergen County residents to a series of community information sessions:

- Bergen County Parks are important to the quality of life for nearly one million Bergen County residents.
- Unlike many similar suburban and urban park systems, the Bergen County Parks System has never had a comprehensive master plan.
- As the county's population continues to grow, a Parks Master Plan will help guide the short and long-term priorities across almost 10,000 acres of parks, recreation, and open space.

The goal of these community information sessions is to discuss the Bergen County Parks System as it exists now and include residents in the conversation about the future of our parks. We invite all Bergen County residents to come and participate!

JANUARY 2017 COMMUNITY INFORMATION SESSIONS

1/10 TEANECK

7-9 PM Richard Rodda Community Center
250 Colonial Court

1/18 PARAMUS

7-9 PM Bergen County Special Services School
District Building
540 Farview Avenue

1/12 MAHWAH

7-9 PM Bergen County Law & Public Safety
Institute Lecture Hall
281 Campgaw Road

1/19 LYNDBURST

5:30-8 PM NJSEA Meadowlands Environmental
Center Auditorium
1 DeKorte Park Plaza

1/17 CLOSTER

7-9 PM Closter Public Library
280 High Street

1/25 RIVER VALE

7-9 PM Valley Brook Golf Course Clubhouse
15 Rivervale Road

RUTGERS

CUES — Center for Urban Environmental Sustainability

Follow the master plan project & take the online survey at www.cues.rutgers.edu/bergen-park-system